

Pre-Qualified vs. Pre-Approved

Many people use the terms interchangeably, but it's crucial for every homebuyer to understand the distinctions. Pre-qualification is merely the initial step, giving you an estimate of the loan amount you might be eligible for. On the other hand, pre-approval is a more advanced process, providing you with a conditional commitment for the mortgage.

Click here to view and download the document.

